

FOREWORD

It is a matter of great pleasure that this study on 'Delegated Legislation in India' has been made ready by the Indian Law Institute. I hope the readers will find it useful and informative.

It is regretted that due to printing difficulties the Institute could not release this publication earlier.

The views and suggestions contained herein are those of the research team which has prepared this study.

B. P. SINHA
Executive Chairman