THE judgment of the Court was delivered by

AINSLIE, J.—In this case the decree of the Privy Council reverses the decrees of the three Courts in India with costs in each Court; it also dismisses the suit with costs, and specifies the sum of £490 10s. 10d. sterling as the costs of the appeal to the Privy Council. The question is whether this sum of £490 10s. 10d. includes the costs of translation, &c., incurred in this Court. We do not entertain any doubt that the costs assessed in England were only the costs incurred before the Privy Council, and that they do not include the costs of translation, &c., incurred in this country. The terms of the decree are ample to cover all costs incurred in any stage of the suit, and the Court below rightly overruled the appellant's objection.

There has been a cross-appeal on the part of the respondent for interest on costs; but we are of opinion that, as no interest has been provided for in the decree of the Privy Council, it cannot be allowed now by this Court.

The appeal is dismissed with costs. The cross-appeal is also dismissed.

SARODA PRASAD MULLICK (APPELLANT TO THE PRIVY COUNCIL), v. LACHMIPAT SING DUGAR AND OTHERS (RESPONDENTS).

MARKBY, J.—As this application now stands, it prays that the Court will send the order of Her Majesty in Council, together with the usual certificate of the costs of translation and preparation of the paper-book of the Privy Council appeal, to the lower Court for execution in the usual course. The order in Council directs that the decree of this Court of the 26th March 1868 and the order of the 10th July 1868 be and the same should be reversed with £238 16s. 6d. sterling costs, and that the decree of the Principal Sudder Ameen of Dinagapore of the 11th April 1867 should be affirmed with costs.

Now it appears to me, looking to that order of Her Majesty, that, upon the face of it, the only costs of the appeal to Her Majesty to which the appellant is entitled is the sum therein specifically named as the costs of such appeal. It is true that the report of the Privy Council, upon which the order is founded, advised Her Majesty that the decree of this Court should be reversed "with costs." But those words do not occur in the order of her Majesty, as neither do the subsequent words contained in the report of the Privy Council, that the decree of the Principal Sudder Ameen should be affirmed with costs in India. But even if I were at liberty to decide this matter upon the report of the Privy Council, and not upon the order in Council (which I do not think I should be at liberty to do), still, looking at the report of the Privy Council, it seems to me that all the costs to which the appellant is entitled in the Privy Council appeal is the sura I have mentioned, because the report of the Privy Council goes on to say:—"In case your Majesty should be pleased to approve of this report, and to dismiss the
