

PREFACE TO THE SECOND EDITION.

IN this edition, such alterations have been made as were found necessary, in consequence of the law being changed by legislation or interpreted differently by authoritative judicial decision, since the publication of the first edition. References have also been given of cases in which statements of the law as contained in the first edition have since been affirmed.

I must here acknowledge my obligation to Babu Sarat Chandra Banerji, M.A., B.L., for the material assistance I have derived from him in the preparation of this edition.
