

PREFACE

It gives me a great pleasure to present in a new form the Index to Indian Legal Periodicals for the year 2009. This index is being published yearly by the Indian Law Institute, indexing all periodicals pertaining to law and related fields that are being received in the ILI Library. An endeavour has been made to present a perfect blend of articles published in the Indian Legal Periodicals and Select Foreign periodicals.

This Index is in two parts. Part-I covers Indian Legal Periodicals and Part-II covers Select Foreign Articles. The articles included in this volume have been compiled from all Indian and foreign periodicals received in Indian Law Institute Library.

The Index is an attempt to provide a comprehensive and exhaustive research aid that would be useful for researchers, students, academics and law practitioners in the realm of law and justice. Articles are indexed under broad subjects. Keywords Index and Author Index are given separately to facilitate specific search relating to subjects and authors. The number given against each author in the Author Index and each keyword in the Keyword Index indicate the serial number of the articles.

Every attempt has been made to ensure accuracy in the compilation and editing of this Index. There is, however, always scope for improvement and, therefore, suggestions to make the Index more useful are welcome.
